WORK SESSION AGENDA ITEM

---

DATE: September 27, 2016
RE: Rogue Mural Process
TO: Board of Commissioners
ISSUED BY: General Manager

BACKGROUND

The Port Commission discussed themes and concepts with Ardis deFreese two months ago at a noon work session on July 26th.

Some of the comments included:

- Design should blend in with the area's nautical theme.
- WPA/art deco period
- Port's history
- South Beach activities should be represented
- Depictions should be accurate with defined details and soft colors.
- Mixed comments about the degree Rogue imagery should be included.
- Include NOAA, Charter Boats, HMSC, aquarium, Native American oyster beds and sea lions.
- Historical representation of bridge being constructed.
- Monterey Cypress trees
- "hardy souls"

The expectation would be that deFreese would develop three concepts, the Commission would review concepts and clarify direction (what works; what doesn't) and deFreese

SCOPE OF WORK

September 26 – Noon Work Session to review all three design concepts. Commission can merge, change, alter concepts to give the artist final direction before narrowing the mural to a single design.

October – Work Session to review final design. Minor alterations only at this point.

October – Artist finalizes alterations and discusses installation strategies with Rogue.

Installation on brewery extension will be completed after construction

NEXT STEPS

Commission should discuss elements of the presented design, what should be combined and what should be removed. Next meeting will be October 15th to review final design concept.
